War In Viet Nam Going Well, JFK Told By Advisers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's military advisers have told him the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam is going well enough that it may be possible to withdraw most of the American forces there in two years, the White House reports. In a statement issued only hours after the return from Viet Nam of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, there was no indication of any dramatic change of American policy toward the South Viet Nam government.

The two officials said the political situation in South Viet Nam remains "deeply serious."

But they predicted that by the end of this year, the U.S. training program for Vietnamese would have reached the point where 1,000 military personnel assigned to South Viet Nam can be withdrawn.

The White House said Wednesday night's declaration was approved by Kennedy on the basis of recommendations of McNamara and Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

It said that South Viet Nam's security remains "a major interest of the United States as of other free nations" and that putting down the Viet Cong insurgency is the chief objective of U.S. policy there.

In the five-point policy statement, the White House said that while the Diem government's repressive actions against Buddhists "have not yet significantly affected the military effort they could do so in the future."

The United States has poured millions of dollars and thousands of men into South Viet Nam to keep the Southeast Asia country from falling into Communist hands.

But U.S. officials, including Kennedy, expressed fear after the Buddhists' anti-government demonstrations that the war there could be lost if there were not reforms in the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic.

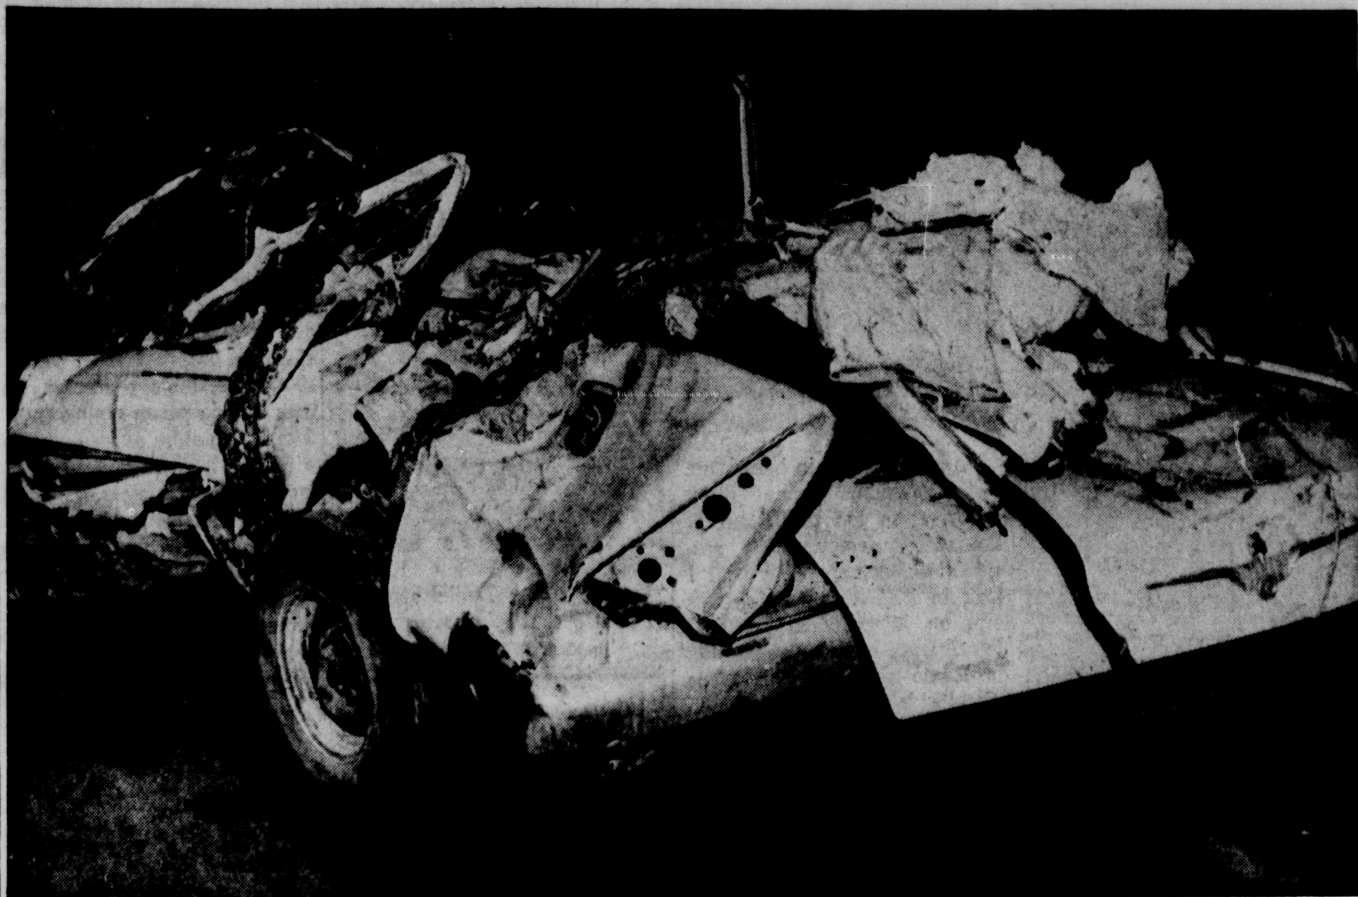

One of the chief reasons for the McNamara-Taylor mission was to learn if the clampdown on Buddhists was hindering the anti-guerrilla effort.

The White House statement said "the military program in South Viet Nam has made progress and is sound in principle, though improvements are being energetically sought."

Then it added, "Military assistance in support of this military effort is needed only until the insurgency has been suppressed or until the national security forces of the government of South Viet Nam are capable of suppressing it."

McNamara and Taylor, the statement said, expressed belief that the major part of the United States military ask can be completed by the end of 1965, although there may be a continuing requirement for a limited number of U.S. trained personnel.

The United States is believed to have about 15,000 troops there—from anti-guerrilla specialists to helicopter pilots—many working with Viet Nam troops in the jungle and delta battlefields of the little Asian country.

Crushed car of Judith Ann Lewis in which the five East Palestine-Negley young people were killed

Battered car of William S. White and Vernon Hatcher's truck; 3 in car perished

Steel Coil From Truck Crushes Five

Four children and four adults from eastern Columbiana County were killed Wednesday evening when a tractor-trailer lost a huge steel coil on State Route 7, near Williamsport, crushing one auto then plowing into a second trapped on a bridge.

The tragedy at 7:10 p. m. was considered the worst in Columbiana County highway history.

The crushed auto held five East Palestine and Negley young persons enroute to church services at the Church of Jesus Christ near East Liverpool in Glenwood.

Killed instantly of crushed skulls were:

Mrs. Judith Ann Lewis, 19, of Carbon Hill Rd., East Palestine, driver of the crumpled auto.

Sally May, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George May of Negley, and sister of Mrs. Lewis.

Louise Slagle, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Slagle of the Negley-Darlington Rd., RD 1, Negley.

Nancy Knight, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knight of RD 1, East Palestine.

Ted Leroy Knight, 8, Nancy's brother.

Killed when the truck struck a second car were:

William G. White, 64, and his wife, Lila, 58, of 403 Azalea Ave., East Liverpool.

She was killed instantly, and her husband died of a crushed chest about five hours after the accident at East Liverpool City Hospital.

William S. White, 33, of East Liverpool, driver of the car in which his parents were riding. He suffered a broken neck and chest injuries and died today at 11:15 a. m.

The truck driver, Vernon Edgar Hatcher, 27, of Quaker City, O., was uninjured but was so badly shaken by the tragedy that he was unable to give highway patrolmen from the Lisbon barracks a coherent picture of the sequence of events.

Patrol Reconstructs Mishap

The Patrol reconstructed this scene:

The truck loaded with three coils of stainless steel coils weighing 12,000 pounds each was northbound, headed down the hill toward Williamsport on Route 7 about six miles north of East Liverpool. The spot is a twisting, turning stretch of road with a concrete bridge below crossing red loose two stainless steel rolls, one of them landing broadside and dead center on the roof of the 1957 Plymouth, crushing it into a mass of steel only two feet thick. The truck-bound occupants were killed instantly and their bodies had to be pried loose by police and firemen.

The truck continued on its breakaway run and smashed headon 200 feet north into another southbound car driven by White. White was driving across the bridge and was unable to steer out of the way of the oncoming rig. The White car, a 1960 Chevrolet, was crumpled from front to rear, accordion-wise, by the impact.

Both the car and the truck plowed into an embankment about 100 feet from the site of the crash. The truck damaged part of the concrete span and after colliding with the Lewis auto, tore up 161 feet of guard rail along the highway.

The impact of the collision jarred loose two stainless steel rolls, one of them landing broadside and dead center on the roof of the 1957 Plymouth, crushing it into a mass of steel only two feet thick. The truck-bound occupants were killed instantly and their bodies had to be pried loose by police and firemen.

After the huge coil demolished the Lewis auto, it continued on toward Beaver Creek, tearing out a chunk in the bridge. The other loose coil which did not strike the car rolled into the creek. The third coil remained on the truck, secured by chains.

The mishap occurred within just a few minutes of the children's anticipated arrival at the Glenmoor church to attend special services. All youths in the Lewis car were members of the Church of Jesus Christ, except Miss Slagle, who was to be a visitor.

Nancy Knight was a sixth grader at the Negley School and her brother, Ted, was in the third grade there. They are two of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knight.

Miss Slagle was a freshman at East Palestine High School and Sally May was a junior there.

Chief Deputy Coroner Roy C. Costello has not completed his investigations in the case. He said he and Dr. William Kolozsi, county coroner, will confer and announce their ruling on the deaths later today or Friday.

The Patrol said Hatcher, who was not held, was driving for the Hulmes Trucking Co. of Steubenville. He was traveling from Weirton, W. Va., to Napoleon, O., with the consignment of steel for the Campbell Soup Co.

Funeral Arrangements

Here is the status of funeral arrangements and personal histories of the young persons killed Wednesday night in the multiple-vehicle accident at Williamsport on Route 7:

Mrs. Judith Ann Lewis Arrangements are pending at the Oliver Funeral Home in East Palestine for Mrs. Lewis, 19, of Carbon Hill Rd., East Palestine, driver of the crushed auto.

Says Industrial Relations Dept. Needs 'Tightened Up'

Little Hoover Commission Presents Recommendations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Department of Industrial Relations, set up 42 years ago to replace most of the boards and commissions then administering state labor laws, could benefit from a general tightening-up, the Little Hoover Commission says in recommendations released today.

The volunteer group of businessmen, which has been seeking ways of bringing more efficiency and economy to state government, also had some proposals for the State Fair and Ohio Historical Society. These are the latest in a series which are being released between now and Oct. 22.

Its proposals for the Industrial Relations Department might result in savings of up to $706,500, the commission contends.

Included are recommendations for: Doing away with the Toledo, Lima, Dayton, Cambridge, Akron, Youngstown and Portsmouth offices; retaining those in Columbus, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

Reducing the present 10 department divisions into five—administration, building examination, industrial safety inspection, mines, and employee relations.

Putting all the central offices—now in three buildings in Columbus—in one building.

Doing away with the jobs of assistant director, his secretary, and public information writer (public relations).

Transferring the inspection of bedding and upholstered furniture to the State Department of Agriculture.

Increasing the department's fees so that they cover the cost of whatever service is provided, and charging for mine safety and industrial training given by the mine rescue superintendent and staff.

Making the mine safety staff responsible only for underground coal mines and oil and gas wells, putting strip mines, quarries, etc., under the proposed industrial safety inspection division and reducing the number of inspectors.

Closing the Cambridge Mine Laboratory and giving that job to the State Health Department.

As for the Ohio Expositions Commission, which came into being two years ago next month to run the State Fair (and which Monday announced plans for 32 million in Fairgrounds improvements in the future), the commission recommends that:

A non-paid study group, not to include the Expositions Commission, be named to evaluate a rebuilding program on the present north Columbus Fairgrounds versus relocating the fair; the possibility of separate fairs for agriculture, industry and youth; desirability of pari-mutuel betting.

2nd St. Extension Funds Appropriated

Legislation authorizing a $33,702.30 expenditure for the extension of W. 2nd St. from Jennings Ave. to the Sekely plant was authorized when City Council met in special session Wednesday.

The amount, which is $3,000 above the low bid, was requested by City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff Jr. so that the contractor would be able to put in more base material than was estimated if the need arises.

Barckhoff pointed out that if extra base is not needed, the additional $3,000 will not be spent. In other action, City Council passed legislation authorizing payment of rental fees and taxes on the E. Pershing St. municipal parking lot. The total of the two expenditures is $616.85.

Two Quizzed In Warren Bank Holdup

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Less than 12 hours after $31,754 was taken by two men in a holdup of the West Market branch of the Union Savings and Trust Co., FBI agents and Warren police had all but $2,100 of the loot.

Two men were being questioned and a third was sought.

E. E. Hargett, head of the Cleveland FBI office, said the bags used in the holdup, the money and three guns were found Wednesday night under the hood of a car owned by a Niles man. It was not the auto used for the robbery getaway.

One of the trio apparently was the driver of the getaway car. Only two robbers appeared in the rear and wore crudely-made hoods and showed pistols.

The car used in the robbery was found abandoned on the West Side behind a junior high school, 1½ miles from the bank. It had been stolen earlier in the morning from an industrial parking lot near the holdup site.

Things Are Humming, C.of C. Report Shows

There is no denying that Salem is the area leader in promoting new industry and the expansion of present manufacturing facilities.

A report issued by the Salem Area Chamber of Commerce shows a large amount of new construction in business, plus the moving of new industry into present buildings and the expansion of existing, thriving business firms.

At the top of the list of new industry is the A&P refrigerated meat and food warehouse on the Lisbon Rd. while the recent announcement of a $1 million expansion plan for the E. W. Bliss Co. lead the list in that field.

And making the over-all picture even brighter is the fact that a Chicago firm may purchase the old Smith Well Field for a $10 million dollar facility.

Other alterations and construction in and around Salem in recent months include additions to the Salem City Hospital on E. State St. and the Salem Central Clinic on E. 2nd St., construction of the new Friends Church on Jennings Ave., construction of the Mullins Manufacturing office building on S. Ellsworth Ave. and

Sent by JFK To Study Race Problems

Report on Birmingham By Fact-Finder Due

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Less than 24 hours after two presidential racial fact-finders landed in Birmingham Sept. 24 a bomb exploded in a Negro neighborhood. Since then, there has been a President Kennedy sent the two men here to try to get at the core of the racial trouble in this big steel city. On their arrival, Royall and Blaik described themselves as "friendly guests." They were greeted cordially by Mayor Albert Boutwell. Mostly they have sat and listened to anyone who would talk to them. Details of the conversations have been kept secret. They will make them known in a report to the President.

Valachi Continues Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph Valachi is billed for another day and a half in the limelight—longer if he can sing well enough about the narcotics racket.

In a switch of plans, Sen. John L. McClellan, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Investigations subcommittee, put off until Tuesday the questioning of Valachi about the big money narcotics rackets in which members of the secret criminal society known as La Cosa Nostra were involved.

Testimony of Valachi, a convicted killer and dope peddler, ran longer than expected Wednesday as he told of murder 30 years ago in which the reigning Cosa Nostra "boss of bosses" was cut down in a double cross by rivals. This was one murder, Valachi said, in which he was not a participant. He has described some he helped to stage—but invariably was somewhere else when the shooting started.

McClellan told reporters he is trying to expedite the hearings. Present prospects, he said, are that Valachi can wind up "in a day or a day and a half" as the investigation's star witness.

But this estimate, McClellan emphasized, depends on how much evidence Valachi can give about narcotics rackets.

It was his conviction as a narcotics racketeer that started the chain of events that led him to become an informer against his old associates.

McClellan said that in questioning Valachi, 60, about narcotics, the subcommittee will have to play things by ear. Its staff has had no opportunity to question Valachi in advance about the illegal traffic in drugs.

The subcommittee has been told that La Cosa Nostra, which often sentenced disobedient members to death, had laid down a ban against its men getting into the narcotics traffic, on grounds that it involved too much risk of stirring up the law.

But even Vito Genovese, named by Valachi as the dominant power in La Cosa Nostra, is in prison now, appealing a 15-year sentence as a narcotics racketeer.

No Longer Worth the Risk

Ohio liquor law enforcement has been given a new set of tools for straightening out under-age consumers and purveyors tempted to cater to the under-age trade.

When the Stark County Sheriff Department and state liquor agents arrested three 20-year-olds Friday night for consuming liquor in cars last Friday night the new

One of the most consequential inconsequential of our time was a remark supposedly made by Leo Durocher, umpire-baiting tough cookie of his baseball era. "Nice guys never win," said Durocher.

The remark had profound effect. Millions of kids fashioned their lives accordingly. Adults in Durocher's generation agreeing with it in specific instances. Durocher never tried to be a nice guy—and he had done all right.

He subsequently was to explain he didn't mean it the way it sounded, but whether he did or didn't, the damage was done. Nice guys had been put on the defensive in They didn't win.

Well, Stan Musial won. Stan the Man had 3,630 hits in 3,026 games, a .331 lifetime batting average, was everybody's favorite, a devoted family man and a shining example of success. When he played his last game in St. Louis last Sunday, his 22-year stretch had made Leo Durocher, a non-nice guy, look like a patsy. There wasn't a dry eye in the house for Stan, and it has been a long time since anyone wept for Leo Durocher.

New Contracts

News on Salem's industrial front continues to be good.

Union and management at the E. W. Bliss Company have signed a new two-year work agreement and labor has ratified a new agreement at the Kaiser Refractories plant in Columbiana where a number of local people work.

These and other pacts approved by management and employees in local manufacturing plants, including the one now in effect at the re-tooled Mullins plant, which continues to Nov. 30, 1965, are a testimonial to the mutual efforts of corporate officers and labor leaders to achieve workable wage settlements which, naturally, help to sustain the local economy and keep business humming generally.

Only when there is harmony and understanding can progress be continued.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

It seems absurd to me for commentators to make it appear a legal rise in highway speed limits makes any difference in driving speeds. The same drivers who drove 70 miles an hour and up when the limit was 55, 60 and 65 will still be driving 70 miles an hour afterward.

I don't know how others feel about this and don't care, but I am fed up with sickness on television. Most of us are kooky enough in our own right without watching the antics of other kooks in the name of entertainment.

This is my annual occasion for busting out crying about "The September Song" and "Falling Leaves," because I am a pushover for autumn. Winter is something to be endured; it leaves me cold. Summer isn't too hot and Spring doesn't spring. But autumn: boo-hoo.

In the process of acquiring a new household appliance we have called in plumbers, electricians and must do interior decorating and will be lucky if we get out of the incidents for less than the cost of the appliance.

There is one school of thought (count me in) that feels contempt for creeps who betray creeps they cozied up to in the past. This goes for the creep testifying against Cosa Nostra, Christine Keeler, "reformed" Communists and people who write dirty memoirs about their friends.

I have a firm impression that many of my countrymen turn a pretty penny making nuisances of themselves with law suits based tools was put into use.

They were introduced into the General Assembly by Stark County Rep. Bernice K. McKenzie.

ONE OF THEM reads like this

"No person under the age of 21 years shall order, pay for, share the cost of, or attempt to purchase any intoxicating liquor from a sealed or unsealed container or by the glass or by the drink, except as provided in section 4301.69 of the Revised Code."

Section 4301.69 of the Revised Code lists these exceptions

A parent may give intoxicating liquor to his offspring.

A guardian may do so.

Or a physician may do so in the regular line of his practice.

There are no other exceptions.

THIS MEANS that in Ohio the abuse of intoxicating beverages by persons under 21 an of beer by persons under 18 has been made strictly illegal. It is no longer a guessing game for bartenders as to who is 18 or 21, either.

Persons who lie about their age can be fined and imprisoned. And drinking by under-age people is illegal per se.

Ever since the Ohio Liquor Monopoly Act was put on the statutes, there has been confusion about enforcing its provisions for controlling sale of intoxicating beverages to under-age Ohioans.

The law is now clear. Anyone who messes around with beer under the age of 18, or high-potency liquor under 21, either as consumer or purveyor, is in for big trouble. It isn't worth the risk.

Public Service

Volunteers of the various Red Cross divisions registered many hours of service work during the past fiscal year, as attested to when the North Columbiana County Chapter of the American Red Cross held its annual meeting Tuesday night.

And, although a number were men, the greatest volunteer effort came from the women—housewives who performed dedicated work as hospital gray ladies, as canteen workers, staff aides and helping with the Bloodmobile where during the past year 1,608 citizens donated a pint of blood to keep the vital blood bank filled and ready for any emergency.

The mercy organization functions so well because so many dedicated, public-spirited citizens are participants.

no technicalities that permit every man-jack to be a nuisance until he has used up all recourses of legal protection. For example: People tying up telephone companies with law suits on all-number dialing.

My gratitude goes to many able correspondents who have worked conscientiously to explain questions raised and answers proposed in the Roman Catholic Church's historic meetings. Their job has been tough, but they have done it so well no one needs to be in the dark about the basic issue, which is whether the Italian-dominated curia shall continue to dominate the church.

I have yet to see anything that takes my eye like a sprinkle of fallen leaves on well-cared-for turf on a shaded lawn—nature's greatest still-life study.

Maybe you've thought of it too, that some of the stretched-out shows of the new TV season are like the shows we put on as kids, when we didn't have anything important to show after we had brought out the family dog rigged up to resemble a lion. Everything else was fill-in that didn't fool the customers.

Personally, I warm up to the practice common at Halloween of pulling the trick-or-treat routine in neighborhoods where the treating is likely to be first class. And I still go into convulsions about the kid who busted out crying when the nice man dropped a big red apple into his brown paper sack. "You big unprintable," sobbed the kid. "You busted my cookies."

Legal Maneuvers Overdone, Attorney General Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Attorney General Robert Kennedy in a speech at Kansas City, Mo., the other day gave some advice to lawyers which, if it had been followed prior to 1954, might never have brought about a reversal by the Supreme Court of the United States of its decision of 1896 which had declared "separate but equal" facilities to be constitutional in dealing with the racial problem.

Mr. Kennedy told the Missouri Bar Association that, while "it's proper and just to avail oneself of every legal defense to test either the validity or the applicability of a rule of law," the principle today is being "used in isolation, invoked in improper contexts espoused as absolutes and carried to extremes."

He endorsed in general the "legal propositions" that "a court decision binds only those persons who are a party to it" and that "a court-made rule of law should always be open to reexamination, and is susceptible to being overruled on a subsequent occasion."

But today, he said, those same principles are "being proclaimed by lawyers and public officials as the justification for tactics to obstruct the enforcement of laws and court orders."

Mr. Kennedy asserted that "to seek reversal of a judicial ruling" is being defended nowadays as merely "to exercise one's constitutional right" and that the arguments for such action are being given "a gloss of respectability" and "can even take on the disguise of a patriotic, high-minded dissent."

HE ADDED that it's a position "publicly espoused today by the governors of two states, by a past president of the American Bar Association and by a federal district judge who recently overruled the Brown Decision (1954) on grounds that its findings of fact were erroneous."

Where does this leave the lawyer who is asked to defend his client before the bar of justice? What would have happened if the lawyers for the Negroes in those 58 years between 1896 and 1954 had accepted the defeatist doctrine that what had been decided in the courts in one set of cases was final?

Mr. Kennedy says a reversal of the 1896 decision had been "expected" some day but no such reversal of the 1954 ruling is ever likely now. Who can be a prophet in the field of legal technicalities and judicial whims? For decades many a lawyer in this country felt that the 1896 decision was just as permanent as Mr. Kennedy today thinks the 1954 decision will be.

Is it the function of a lawyer to defend his client by every legal method, or must he accept a court precedent as binding in all future cases? Whether he likes it or not, the lawyer feels he must at least try to get a reversal on the very same basis perhaps that Mr. Kennedy has argued—that times may change and that the justices may see their errors of the past.

MANY SCHOOL boards, for example, are testing in the courts today just how far the prayer decision of the Supreme Court really applies. Their lawyers evidently feel that the recent ruling was merely "the law of the case."

"What do we really mean, as lawyers," asked the attorney general in his speech, "when we say that it is proper and constitutional to avail oneself of every legal defense?"

He answered that it doesn't mean "using dilatory tactics" and requires "good faith" and "cooperation" with the courts.

But suppose Negro and white lawyers over the decades had advised their Negro clients not to challenge state laws and to show "good faith" rather than to test and retest segregation laws of various kinds.

Would the Negroes have ever secured a reversal of the 1896 decision? What of the Negro organizations which now openly argue for street demonstrations which they know will lead to friction and bitter feeling and perhaps violence? Are they cooperating with the courts?

SOME OF the lawyers on the other side can, moreover, ask these questions:

1. Is the demand for the right of a trial by jury just the raising of a technicality when the governor of a sovereign state is being charged with contempt for trying to test a court order? No case like it ever has come before the supreme court.

2. Isn't the Department of Justice availing itself of a technicality in its proposal to justify interference with the right of owners of "public accommodations" to choose their own customers? Wasn't this issue decided by the Supreme Court in 1883, and why should circumventing tactics be used now?

3. Is it right for the Department of Justice to tell Congress it "expects" the Supreme Court to rule in its favor? Is this a proper statement to make and does it mean that justices will be nominated hereafter who conform to the administration's "expectations"?

The records over the years show that the lawyers for Negro organizations didn't mind defending their clients who had disregarded "the law of the case" or "the law of the land" again and again.

Mr. Kennedy said this was because they expected a reversal in the desegregation cases. He described it as "a decision that the vast majority of the American public holds to be morally correct."

Can a system of law and a written constitution be effective if the Supreme Court rewrites the laws and amends the constitution? This is the true weakness today.

If public opinion alone, moreover, is to be the guiding influence, then maybe a system of elected judges or appointments for a fixed tenure—so that the high court judges could perhaps be changed with each administration—would reflect the wishes of the "vast majority" as to what is "morally," if not constitutionally, correct.

Soup through the ages has played a role similar to bread as a basic food. Every country and civilization has its favorite. In the United States it is considered to be tomato. Both Queen Elizabeth I and Queen Victoria were fond of sipping mutton soup to wake up their morning appetites.

Let Down the Drawbridge

Shame of the Cities

By VICTOR RIESEL

What the Justice Department needs is a bevy of Valachis in its newest coast-to-coast probe—which has not yet hit the national headlines. The lines. The federal government now has 100 investigations going in 30 states in to underworld control of some 70 cities. Coordinated teams of sleuths drawn from the FBI, the Internal Revenue Service, the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, the Department of Labor and other agencies are on the trail of corrupt mayors, police officials and municipal council members. These men have provided the legal protection for rackets which have taken as much as $40 million a year in one Eastern industrial metropolitan area.

This city is in the heart of the coal-iron-steel and transportation section of the East.

Victor Riesel

HARDLY TYPICAL in this probe, but highly titillating, was the Midwest city whose mayor was completely in the hands of the Mafia, alias the Cosa Nostra. The mayor took orders directly from the local "family" chief. One day the latter needed money. He actually sold a half interest in the mayor to another crime syndicate boss.

More typical is a Midwestern city where a high ranking municipal official is under indictment for attempting to extort thousands of dollars from firms seeking city contracts.

In an inland Eastern city a Cosa Nostra racketeer and the city's mayor and police chief are awaiting trial on charges of extensive corruption involving big pay-offs to other city officials. These were in exchange for approving contracts with certain firms for city business.

In the "West Coast area," corrupt pin ball operatives have maintained their "business" and locations by paying off city government officials.

SOME OF THE MEN are so intricately interwoven into gambling, industry and labor rackets across the land that it would take even a slew of Valachis, knowledgeable in each region, a decade to unravel the details of the operations.

Typical of just one of those who have been probed is John LaRocca. He used to frequent the Red Eagle Club, described by the Pittsburgh police as the hangout for the "elite" of gangdom in that city.

Government probes ran into him during "several investigations." He had union contacts, including Nick Stirone, then a hod carrier chief in Pittsburgh.

The federal encountered him during a probe of Gary, Ind. Then they found him with another top hood in Sierra Madre, Calif.

LaRocca was an Apalachin, N.Y., crime connection delegate. He had close contact with some hoodlum-dominated laundry and overalls firms in Detroit and he was a power in the Wheeling, W. Va., underworld.

LaRocca is just one of hundreds the government has run across in its probe of the shame of some cities. These men tie all the rackets together.

The Justice Department files show they have developed new techniques for moving in on legitimate business. Working out of the Midwest, LaRocca's group has been in the Western cheese business, in the iron and steel business, in the race track operation run by Cosa Nostra elements, in construction and in the labor rackets.

members meet two at a time and pass word on to the others.

When the shame of the cities is finally exposed, many a citizen will be thoroughly ashamed of having tolerated such corruption in his home town.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Some friends recently named their baby Shirley. In my opinion it's a dirty trick to give such a name to a girl, but to name a boy Shirley is unforgivable.

Why do people do such things to their children? It seems to be happening more and more. Two other friends named their sons Marion. My husband and I began to call him "Butch" the day he was born. Fortunately it caught on and saved him.

Girls get stuck with names which belong to the opposite sex, as well. In school these names, which can go both ways, create pure confusion. A teacher who looks for Keith and sees something in long curls is bound to have difficulty concealing her surprise.

What advice can you give to these unfortunate kids who get hooked with oddball names? (And while you're at it, take a good swipe at the parents.)—PLAIN MARY AND GLAD OF IT.

Dear Glad Mary: The only advice I have for a boy named Shirley is to learn how to fight.

Personally, I don't think names matter much. If a name doesn't fit a personality you can be sure that childhood friends will hook on a nickname that does.

Indiscreet Roommate

Dear Ann: Recently I found an apartment which captured my heart. It was too expensive for me so I asked a friend who is a hospital nurse if she would like to be my roommate. She loved the apartment, too, and agreed with pleasure.

Now, whenever I come home from work her boyfriend is sitting in the living room reading the newspaper or putting in the kitchen, making himself something to eat. He has a key to our place and waltzes in whenever he feels like it.

Our bedrooms are at opposite ends of the apartment and her boyfriend often stays in her bedroom until 3 a.m.—which I think is disgraceful. She has a TV set in there and claims they enjoy watching the late shows and that I'm evil-minded.

Matter of Fact

Dinosaur National Monument is a reservation located in northeastern Utah and northwestern Colorado. It contains fossil remains of prehistoric animal life.

Niagara Falls N.Y., each year entertains more than 2 million tourists. At night, the falls are illuminated by multicolored floodlights from the Canadian side. Behind the tourist facade, Niagara Falls is a thriving industrial community converting the power of the river into many useful products.

Sponges have been in use since earliest recorded time. Ancient Greek mothers pacified their babies by giving them pieces of sponge soaked in honey. Sponges were used as mops and paintbrushes and Roman soldiers carried a piece of sponge to be used as a drinking vessel, which explains the manner in which vinegar was offered to Christ on the cross—in a sponge.

Questions and Answers

Q—Is it possible to see both the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans at some point in Central America?

A—On a clear day, both oceans are said to be visible from Irazu, a volcano 11,260 feet high, in the center of Costa Rica.

Q—Is the bald eagle, America's national bird, in danger of extinction?

A—There are only about 4,000 bald eagles in the U.S., excluding Alaska, and there has been a severe drop in the number of young eagles being hatched.

I realize I should tell her to shape up or ship out but if she leaves I'm stuck with a rental I can't afford. My name is on the lease which doesn't expire until May 1. Please advise me. —HUNG.

Dear Hung: This situation will get worse before it gets better. Tell your friend she must move within 90 days and start to look for a new roommate now. If you can't find one, you are stuck until May, at which time you should find something you can afford—alone.

The Whole Truth

Dear Readers: If you have not yet had your laugh for the day this could be it.

Several days ago I replied to a Confidential signed "Baffled and Can't Figure It Out." "If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I will be happy to give you the inside story."

To date I have received 73 self-addressed, stamped envelopes from people who want to know "the inside story!"

Only one of the 73 is going to get the "inside story"—and that will be a reader from Buffalo, N.Y. who repeats the original problem in his second letter. So stop putting me on, folks. Yesterday, I wasn't born.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Here's an idea if you have a table or stand of any sort whose legs are not even.

Just remove the cork lining from the inside of a pop bottle cap. Glue or tape these corks on to the bottom of the leg. Sometimes it is better to tack them on with carpet tacks. One can also use cork in layers.

We often think our tables do have one leg shorter than the other, but we have found out that it can be the floor. This may sometimes be remedied by turning the table around, but more likely, one will need some kind of prop under at least one leg so that the table won't wobble.

MR. G. E. D.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a suggestion about curtains... especially in children's rooms.

We use terry cloth... the tightly woven type. I made pleated, drapeline curtains for my children's rooms. Since they are short windows I placed the selvege of the terry cloth at the bottoms.

I used belt stiffening on the top and made pleats by whipping on the back side.

Little fingers opening windows can certainly make the curtains dirty in no time. Laundering this type curtain is a breeze because they need not be ironed. I remove them from the dryer while still slightly damp and hang them right back up on the windows.

These terry cloth drapes are lovely in a family room, too.

CAROL STANDT.

DEAR HELOISE: Are you a Dear Madam or Sir? ... It could be either, you know!

DEAR SIR: I guess it could, but I'm not. My birth certificate shows female!

And my family says I am. HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For a different and new toast treat for breakfast sprinkle instant coffee mixed with sugar over hot buttered toast... or on buttered bread before toasting it in the broiler. It's delicious.

MRS. D. ARCIA.

DEAR HELOISE: I have often read that the juice left from canned peaches, prunes, and all fruits should be saved and used in gelatin desserts... but I have a better idea:

The next time you cook purnes or apricots instead of using plain water entirely, try putting the leftover juices of canned fruits in some boiling water, adding two slices or more of lemon and a wee bit of salt and cook as usual. You have never tasted such delicious fruit until you have used these added juices.

Try it and let me know. I dare you to print this.

FRUIT CRAZY. DEAR FRUIT CRAZY: Don't ever dare me! I just did! I not only tried it on apricots and prunes but I tried it with raisins! You've got the right idea. Thanks a million. It really gives it a flavor, especially on apricots.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a number of boys who wear jeans try washing, drying and ironing them all on the wrong side. The pockets dry faster and the iron can be slipped under the pocket for pressing the underneath material and then the pocket itself pressed down. It's much easier and goes twice as fast.

ANNE SCHIVER.

DEAR HELOISE: Broken bits of a brick will help hold moisture in dirt. In all of my house plants I always put a few bits of brick in the bottom of the pot before adding soil when potting a plant.

Ludwig-Hays Nuptials Held At Columbiana

Before an altar banked with palms, ferns and chrysanthemums, Rev. John R. Donley officiated at the 2:30 p.m. wedding Saturday in the sanctuary of the Columbiana Nazarene Church which united in marriage Miss Mary Jo Ludwig and Donald Hays Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Flossie Ludwig of Signal and Mr. and Mrs. Hays of Rogers are parents of the bridegroom.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, James Ludwig of Hobart, Ind., who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a white floor-length gown. A round neckline and long tapered sleeves graced the Chantilly lace bodice and the full skirt of slipper satin was designed with a V back. She carried white roses and feathered fern.

Miss Betty Ludwig was maid of honor for her sister and wore a dress of sunset pink nylon with bell shaped skirt and carried pink roses.

Mr. Hays chose John Kotsch to be his best man. Jack Ludwig, twin brother of the bride, and Gary Hays were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ludwig wore a navy blue dress and corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Hays' corsage of red and white carnations complemented her grey suit.

At the reception following the ceremony a three-tier cake decorated the bride's table. Mrs.

Margaret Duvall and Mrs. Dora Clay served.

A pink suit and the corsage from her bouquet was worn by the bride for her honeymoon to Niagara Falls. The couple will reside at Signal.

The bride attended Beaver Local High School of which Mr. Hays is a graduate. He is employed by the Irwin Hays farm at Clarkson.

Werner-McClaren Vows Are Heard

Rev. Carl F. Duwe officiated at the wedding of Mrs. Hazel A. Werner of East Palestine and James N. McClaren of Damascus at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the sanctuary of the Grace Lutheran Church at East Palestine.

The altar was decorated with vases of white chrysanthemums and lighted with white tapers in cathedral candelabra. Mrs. Margaret Walker of East Palestine was organist and Herbert Mercer of Damascus the soloist.

The bride wore a pink and silver sheath dress with matching pillbox hat.

Mrs. Harry Gillespie of Beaver, Pa., daughter of the bride, was maid of honor, and William E. McClaren of Salem, son of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Big question is, what does a space plumber do if he leaves his tools at home?

Quiz Show Cancelled After 3-Week Stand

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "100 Grand," ABC's widely promoted big money quiz show, has been abruptly cancelled after only three programs—a television record for a short life.

It was pulled from the network schedule because it was attracting steadily decreasing numbers of viewers, but the debate still goes on:

Did "100 Grand" become the season's first casualty because the public, once burned, is disenchanted with quiz shows of this type, no matter how honest? Or was it a complicated, pretentious and downright dull show to see? The answer probably is a combination of the two.

The network will fill the hole in next Sunday's schedule with a summary of the Valachi-Cosa Nostra hearings, and is expected to schedule "The Roosevelt Years," a documentary series made over a year ago, as the replacement.

NBC's new "Espionage" in its premiere program Wednesday night was less a spy story than a tale of an expedient killing. It was well produced and had a fine cast of actors with—praise be—new faces.

The series, produced in England, promises to be a most interesting addition to the network schedule.

CBS showed its first edition of "Chronicle," which will occasionally fill an early Wednesday evening spot. Under the coy title of "The French, They Are So French," the program sought, as it announced, to explain the Gallic national character mostly by dramatic excerpts from works by de Maupassant, Anouilh, Balzac and Cocteau.

The result was dull television. Channel Markers Bing Crosby taped his Nov. 7 CBS special last Friday—without scheduled guest stars Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin. ... Imogene Coca's "Grindl" hit Nielsen's top 10 shows with its premiere program last month, but succeeding scripts for the comedienne's series have to get better to keep it there.

CBS' Harry Reasoner has been named "roving correspondent" to cover major stories. ... NBC's Richard Boone, out of action for 10 days from injuries in an auto crash, has returned to work. ... ABC, promised the first American television interview with Mrs.

Ngo Dinh Nhu, has been beaten to its scoop by NBC, which plans one Friday on "Today." ABC's was scheduled for Sunday.

NBC pre-empts "Temple Houston" tonight (7:30-8:30 EDT) for a roundup of the Cosa Nostra hearings. Perry Como makes his debut as star of an occasional variety hour (NBC 10-11).

7:30 — Ch. 5, Flintstones: Fred finds a baby on his doorstep.

8 — Ch. 5, Donna Reed: Dean Martin's daughter makes her debut in tonight's show.

8:30 — Ch. 5, My Three Sons: Fred MacMurray stars.

9 — Ch. 8, Perry Mason: Mason finally loses a case to the district attorney.

10 — Ch. 3, Perry Como: George Burns is one of Perry's guests.

11:15 — Ch. 3, Steve Allen.

Nobody Sober

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—No one is quite sober in Manhattan in October.

Everyone drinks the wine of new possibility.

Anything can happen; everything does.

New York City advertises herself as a summer festival, but she is even more of a fall fiesta.

Her fugitive children troop back from their summer hideaways, mosquito-scarred and full of tales of country adventure. But they really don't start living again until they cross the Bronx line, or enter the Lincoln tunnel and leave New Jersey behind. Any time spent anywhere but here doesn't count — it's a period in a cocoon.

Now in October the cocoon time is over, and Manhattan again becomes a siren city, the American enchantress.

The word is "big." Everybody has big plans, big dreams, big hopes — the big angle. Every bus, every train, every plane unloads hard-eyed or starry-eyed schemers who come here to seek the big chance, to beat the big city down to their size.

The hammering sound of new buildings going up and old buildings coming down echoes all day. S of workmen seem to be ripping up every pavement as to / ay new utility lines or repair deep pockmarks.

at in Flushing Meadows Bob Moses and his merry elves are clothing the skeleton of the giant world's fair in a mad race against time to get the biggest show in history ready by next April.

Flying footballs replace the thump of baseballs in gloves on city playgrounds. The pigeons outside the Central Park Zoo get fewer handouts, and the polar bears gambol gaily in their chilling pool. Old ladies wait for sunny afternoons to lean plump arms on pillows in tenement windows and stare down with timeless curiosity on the antics of mankind.

A fresh glitter comes to tawdry Broadway. Old shows close. New shows open—and some close. But in Tin Pan Alley the pianos go on tinkling forever.

On Fifth Avenue, the fabulous store windows drip with furs and jewels. Along the Bowery, burns shiver and wonder where they'll get an overcoat. In expensive restaurants the gin and tonic gives way to the vodka martini.

Life itself is just one big cocktail party in the big town now. Everyone from Park Avenue cinderellas to Greenwich Village beatniks shares a feeling of exultant intoxication, for no one is quite sober in Manhattan in October. Whod want to be?

Bill Permits Ex-Presidents To Speak At Senate Meetings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ex-President Herbert Hoover is supposed to have told ex-President Harry S. Truman one time:

"The only thing for an old President to do is to take pills and dedicate libraries."

Hoover was joking, of course; both he and Truman — and also Dwight D. Eisenhower — the other living ex-President — have managed to keep busy at useful occupations.

But they could have a bigger voice than they do in the nation's affairs. The Senate this week took a step toward giving them just that.

The Senate passed a resolution giving all ex-presidents the privilege of addressing it whenever they wished. All they would have to do would be to give advance notice.

Similar legislation has been proposed in Congress many times, but the idea always has foundered on the rocks of indifference.

William Howard Taft put an effective quietus on a comparable proposal in 1912 when he said he could see no point in ex-presidents being made non-voting members of the Senate. Chloroform, Taft said, could provide a more merciful oblivion.

But circumstances and viewpoints change and this time, thanks to the persistence of Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., it got through, although it didn't go as far as Pell had sought. Pell originally wanted to give all ex-presidents the status of senators-at-large.

There is no expense involved in the proposal the Senate approved. Former Presidents already are entitled to pensions of $25,000 a year plus up to $50,000 a year for staff expenses.

Truman and President Kennedy already have the right to the Senate floor, being former members of the body.

But, Pell said, if Hoover and Eisenhower were to come in, too, "the luster of our body would be even further enhanced."

Pell gave this argument to the Senate:

"We could benefit by the unique wisdom of our retired chief executives."

"This, I believe, is a much-needed step today, when the legislative and executive branches of our government too often think of themselves as antagonists rather than as allies."

"I know how much I would appreciate the advice and reactions of former Presidents when it comes to some of these rather difficult problems on which we have to vote, particularly those problems where our own Senate committee recommendations run counter to those of our chief executive."

Pell didn't have to add that most men—especially old men—like to give advice. That's a truism daily demonstrated in the Senate.

LISBON — A total of $2,061.67 in trailer taxes for the last half of 1963 was collected up to Oct. 1, the deadline to be paid without penalty, according to County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge.

According to his files, a total of 56 trailer owners of the estimated 665 in the county have not paid their last half taxes as of Jan. 1, 1963.

These 56 will be checked in the very near future and if they are still in the county, the penalty will be added when their taxes are paid, Judge said.

Vivid Description of Rising, Setting Sun Given by Cooper

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The wonderful sights and colors of space were described vividly today by astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. in the final report on his 22-orbit mission.

The report, presented at a conference summarizing the results of the Mercury man-in-space project, contained no new disclosures on Cooper's flight of last May 15-16.

But his personal observations of the space environment were a brilliantly etched record of phenomena witnessed by only six Americans and six Russians.

"I never tired of looking at the sunsets," remarked the 36-year-old Air Force major, who saw 22 of them during America's longest manned space flight.

"As the sun begins to get down towards the horizon, it is very well defined...it is a very bright white; almost the bluish white color of an arc lamp. As it begins to impinge on the horizon, it undergoes a spreading, or flatter effect."

"The sky begins to get quite dark...this light spreading out from the sun is a bright orange color which moves out under a narrow band of bright blue that is always visible throughout the daylight period.

"As the sun sets farther, it is replaced by a bright gold-orange band which extends out for some distance on either side, defining the horizon even more clearly. The sun goes below the horizon rapidly, and the orange band still persists but gets considerably fainter as the black sky bounded by dark blue bands follows it down."

Cooper said that at night he could see lightning flashing within groups of clouds.

The moon, he reported, was quite bright at night. But in daytime it was a lightish blue color. "When there is no moon," he said, "the earth is darker than the sky; there is a difference in the two blacks. In general, there is more light from the sky; the sky is a shining black as compared with a dull black appearance of the earth."

DOWN on the FARM

Alfalfa Weevil Is Threat

The alfalfa weevil, which first appeared in Ohio in 1960, is now threatening thousands of acres of alfalfa in a 21-county area of Eastern and Southern Ohio.

State agricultural authorities say the weevil—scarcely as large as a grain of wheat—is causing the worst economic problem ever to hit the area's alfalfa crop. And they warn that unless the spread of the bug is halted, many more counties may be afflicted next year.

B. D. Blair, Ohio State University Extension entomologist, says now is the time to combat the alfalfa weevil. Fall treatment kills would live through the winter and adult weevils which otherwise lay eggs on alfalfa stems in the spring.

Blair recommends that alfalfa fields in these counties be treated this month: Columbiana, Harrison, Jefferson, Guernsey, Belmont, Noble, Monroe, Morgan, Washington, Athens, Meigs, Vinson, Jackson, Gallia, Lawrence, Perry, Hocking, Pike and Adams.

Farmers Short Course

Young farmers enrolling in Ohio State University's 1964 Short Course in Agriculture may choose from among 21 courses of instruction.

Five new courses have been added, reports Chester S. Hutchison, assistant dean in charge of short courses, in announcing details of the 8-week program beginning Jan. 6. The new courses are: commercial vegetable production, sheep management, swine management, value of livestock performance testing, and farm power.

Persons interested in applying for the scholarships may contact their county Extension agent or vocational agriculture teacher, or write to Dean Hutchison. His address is The Ohio State University, 2120 Fyffe Road, Columbus. Dean Hutchison's office also can supply applications for admission to the short course or additional information on course offerings.

Applications will be accepted until Dec. 24, or until the classes are filled.

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury CHEVROLET

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan

Besides looks, ride and power - what's so special about it?
(it's so reasonably priced)

Kind of leaves the high-priced cars some explaining to do, wouldn't you say?

Long and luxurious—with a fresh-christened look that almost makes you feel somebody should be breaking a champagne bottle on its prow.

Richer roomy interiors with subtle new blending of colors and fabrics. Like the ultra-soft vinyl upholstery in the new Impala Super Sport Series. And the foam-cushioned front and rear seats and door-to-door carpeting, now standard in all models, including the modest-priced Biscaynes.

A choice of seven engines, no less, with output all the way up (say when!) to 425 hp.*

And a choice of four smooth transmissions—from automatic* to 4-speed Synchro-Mesh*—to go with them.

And underlying it all, the opulent feel of Chevrolet's Jet-smooth ride—something some of the expensive makes would dearly love to claim for themselves.

Matter of fact, the most important and noticeable difference between this beautiful new 1964 Chevrolet and the high-priced cars is the price itself.

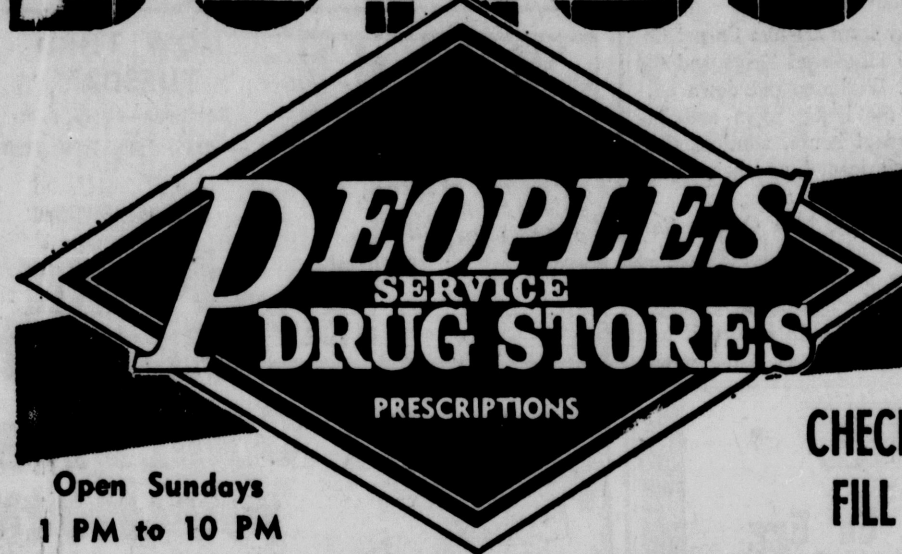

Let your Chevrolet dealer show you how much luxury that reasonable Chevrolet price now buys. *Optional at extra cost

The newly-elected secretary is Ray Dean and the treasurer Wilson Morlan. Cosma had been treasurer. Named to the board of directors was Myron West.

The retiring president is Don Abels, agent for Nationwide Insurance Co.

The club last night received from James Pierce, executive of the Big Waters Boy Scout Council, its new charter for sponsoring Damascus Boy Scout troop 79. Horace Sheffer, institutional representative, spoke and Club President Abels presented cards to Scoutmaster Melvin Hoffman, Assistant Earl Mather and others who have assisted in the troop work, including Jerry Steer, Lee Steer, Donald Oswalt, Dick Gologram, James Griffith, Ellis Steer, Herb Mercer and Robert Morrow.

Curtis Mosher club finance committee chairman, announced plans for the Ruritans' annual fish fry Nov. 15.

New member Wilbur Farrell was named to the club welfare committee.

They Just Did What The Order Directed

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The work order said: "Lay wall to wall carpet, color beige, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Etterling" at 2445 Edgewood Drive.

A crew from Custom Carpet Co. went to Edgewood Drive and did the job. Workmen put down carpet in the living room and hall of a vacant house, admired their job, then loaded up their equipment and drove away.

A short time later Custom Carpet received a call from Dick Smith, a partner in the firm developing the housing subdivision. The crew, Smith reported, had put down the carpet in the wrong house. The Etterlings, a block away, were still waiting for theirs.

Another trip resulted in installation of the Etterling carpet.

Meanwhile, Custom Carpet is hopeful that purchasers of the other house are interested in wall-to-wall carpet . . . beige, already installed.

JFK To Dedicate Dam In Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flies to Arkansas today to dedicate a dam and speak in a state where the integration issue first exploded into a test of power between federal and state governments.

Kennedy makes his first address of the day at the new Greers Ferry Dam near Heber Springs in north-central Arkansas. This was billed, as was an 11-state presidential trek to the West last week, as a call in the interests of conservation.

The President delivers another speech on the grounds of a livestock exhibition at Little Rock. This was to be the major one of the day, the White House said. There was broad speculation that it would touch on the racial problem and the administration's civil rights legislative program.

It was six years ago that Gov. Orval E. Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard in a flare-up over integration of Little Rock's Central High School.

Kennedy's predecessor, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, mustered the guardsmen into federal service, sent in federal troops, and integration followed.

History has been repeated since. Kennedy took National Guardsmen from under the wings of the governors of Mississippi and Alabama and ordered in federal troops during racial upheavals in those two states.

Faubus now is in a fifth term. He arranged to welcome the President to the state and remain by his side during his stay. The governor said he had received considerable mail asking him not to do anything that would indicate approval of the President's civil rights program.

Kennedy carried Arkansas in 1960, but he took only three of the 11 states he toured last week.

Everybody out of the rut
...the '64 Buicks are here!

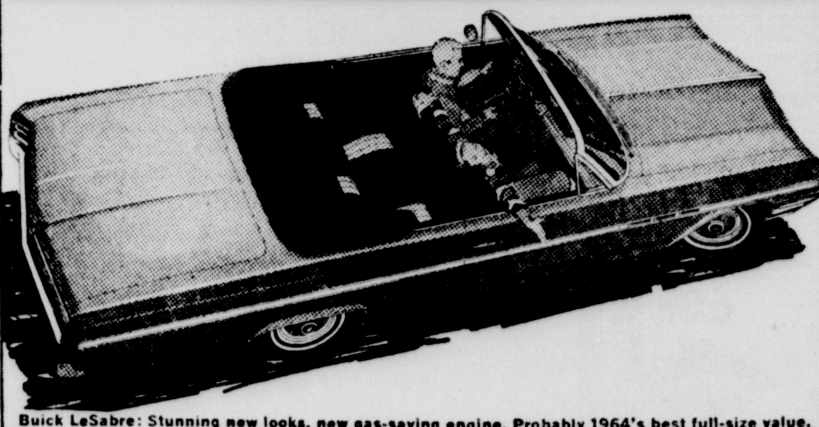

New Wildcat: Wildest, sportiest yet! Three hefty engine choices (up to 360 hp). Hot new Formula V wheels (optional at extra cost).

Buick Special: New longer wheelbase, safety box frame, roomier body. Still low priced.

Buick Skylark: A very personal car with a flair for action. Now in 3 models.

Buick LeSabre: Stunning new looks, new gas-saving engine. Probably 1964's best full-size value.

Electra 225: Most luxurious Buick. Splendidly contemporary in taste and performance.

Our happiest problem for '64 was: how to beat a winner? According to thousands of owners, the 1963 models just about had it made in all departments. But—when your name is Buick—you just don't rest on your laurels. You keep pushing to make a great car greater.

So . . . the '64 Buicks are new—but new. New engines, V-6 or V-8 (you'll like their new gas economy), new, smoother, extra-cost option, Super Turbine Transmissions (and who, but Buick, would build in an altitude compensator?). Youngest looking Fisher Bodies in town! Visit a showroom, sit in any one of the new Buicks, and practice this short easy line: "My Buick." Sounds good, doesn't it?

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Repair of the Spinal Cyst

A mother writes that her son was born with a knot about the size of a hen's egg near the end of his spine and she wants some advice about treatment and the outlook for her son's future.

This is a fairly common birth defect. It is a failure of the normal closure of the lower end of the bony spinal canal in the development of the baby. In many cases the defect is so slight that it does not show externally and is detected only on X-ray films. In such cases the child is not handicapped in any way.

Even a knot the size of a hen's egg (and some are much larger) is not likely to cause any trouble if the knot is formed by a cyst or outpouching of the spinal canal that includes spinal fluid but not any of the nerves of the spinal cord. In such cases a surgical repair or obliteration of the cyst can be accomplished readily.

THIS SHOULD NOT BE done until the child is about three years old and toilet training is complete. The operation is necessary because it is hard to protect a growing child from accidental injury to the protruding cyst. If there is any evidence of paralysis of the legs or if toilet training is impossible, you can be sure the cyst contains displaced spinal nerves. In this case the outlook for improvement is poor because no operation to restore the function of these nerves has been devised.

Thus, it can be seen that with this, as with many other birth defects, much depends on the extent of the defect. The best and often the only treatment for severe defects is prevention.

THE MOTHER in her next pregnancy can be helped to produce a perfect baby. New aspects of this fascinating subject are still being discovered.

One of the most recent of these is the prospective mother's need to keep up her intake of vitamin B. The morning vomiting of pregnancy is one cause for a vitamin B deficiency in pregnant women. Other causes are an unbalanced diet, overcooking—since heat destroys the vitamin—and discarding the cooking water which contains essential minerals as well as vitamins. Adding vinegar or baking soda when cooking will alter the optimum alkalinity of a food and neutralize or destroy the vitamin B.

DR. LYNDON A. PEER and his associates in Newark, N. J.,

gave vitamin B supplement to one group of women in the early months of pregnancy and no vitamin supplement to the second group.

The proportion of babies born with birth defects of all kinds was more than twice as high in the group that got no vitamin supplement. Add this to what we already know about the various causes of birth defects and the chances of preventing them will be even greater than before.

Franklin Square

The Women's Society of Christian Service met at the Franklin Square Methodist Church Thursday, and plans were made for the annual turkey supper. They expect to serve a larger number of people this year, so no one will be disappointed. Serving will begin at 5 Saturday, Oct. 19. It will be a family style dinner and everyone is invited. Mrs. Lucille Zimmerman and Mrs. Betty Cline are in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Della Hall and Mrs. Mattie Adams were hostesses at the meeting. Mrs. Hall had charge of the program which was about a woman's dream of the missions in India and what the W.S.C.S. in India was like. The next meeting will be on Thursday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 in the Social Room.

GALEN ZIMMERMAN and Gene Cline represented the Franklin Square Methodist Church at the Lay Leaders Conference at Camp Aldersgate Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greenawalt visited her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Odeus Haffley at Lorain Sunday.

Paul Zimmerman is a patient at the Cleveland Clinic. Farm Bureau Council No. 3 met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Batzli Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dean Klinger have bought the former Sarah Allison home and plan to move in the near future.

MR. AND MRS. DENCIL McDermitt of Columbus and Mrs. Eura Neff of Huntington, W. Va., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loris Cox for three days last week.

Mrs. Elsie Weikart, who has been ill at her home, is reported to be improving.

Mrs. Edith Conley of Navarre recently visited her daughter, Mrs. Leon Taylor and her sister, Mrs. Loris Cox.

Salem To Face Speedy Akron North Football Team

Dodgers Whip Yanks 5-2, Are Now Favored In Series

'Parents Night' Set For Friday's Battle

More speed than Salem has seen all season will be the major problem when the Quakers encounter Akron North in "Parents Night" at Reilly Stadium Friday night.

Salem, in a three-game losing slump, will find the Vikings of Coach Ed Kirkpatrick at least equivalent to Lorain, an opponent the Quakers lost to 20-6 two weeks ago.

The Vikings opened their campaign with an impressive 36-0 victory over Tallmadge, then polished off Akron Central 14-6, before being trounced 36-6 by Akron Garfield last week.

ONLY ONE SENIOR will be in the backfield for Coach Don Clarico's Salem unit and it looks as if sophomore Joe Rottenborn will start at quarterback.

Veteran signal caller Larry Earley, suffering from flu, is one of six athletes on the Quakers' sick list.

A big absentee for this week's clash will be Gary Starbuck who has been sidelined with a bruised breastbone for at least three weeks. His shoes will be filled by Tom Hutson or Harold Schramm. Both boys are juniors.

At halfbacks, Clarico plans to start juniors Cody Goard and Dyer Scott. Leading scorer George Begalla, with 25 points, is set at fullback.

Dick Barrett is set to return to the lineup following a three-week layoff because of a head injury.

ALTHOUGH AKRON NORTH will be outwheeled, the visitors will have speed to burn.

In the starting backfield, Kirkpatrick said, "all the boys have run the 100-yard dash under 11 seconds." He also pointed out that his two ends possess plenty of speed and that his defensive safety Leonard Anders is also fast.

Warren Sipp, 205-lb. fullback, a regular for two years, won't be in the starting lineup, but is slated to see considerable action.

He usually nips the halfbacks and ends in sprints held after each practice by the Vikings. He also has run the century in 10.6.

BOB MEHOK, 155-lb. senior, who plays a halfback for the defensive unit, is a tremendous punter. He is averaging around 40 yards a kick and on several occasions this season has gotten off boots of 60 yards.

Veteran quarterback Ronnie Collins, who is a college-type passer according to his coach, will be the man most dangerous on the Vikings' squad.

He is exceptionally fast, and won't stay in the pass protection pocket if he gets into trouble. He is very effective with the option play and has completed 60 per cent of his passes so far this year.

"The only major problem we have, is to find a couple of ends who can get the job done," declared the Vikings' mentor.

Akron's coaching staff has been working with six prospects during practices this week in search of two capable ends.

LA's Koufax Almost Lost Forefinger

By CHARLES MAHER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Dodger team physicians said today they came within a day or two of having to think seriously about amputating the forefinger of Sandy Koufax' pitching hand last year.

But they said a new drug, or a combination of remedies, saved the finger and Sandy's career—and no doubt made the Dodgers part of the show instead of part of the audience at the 1963 World Series.

Koufax, who beat the Yankees in the series opener Wednesday, was disabled in the middle of the 1962 season by a circulatory disorder in his left forefinger. The flow of blood was reduced to a fraction of normal by constriction of an artery leading to the finger from the palm. At first the finger was so sensitive Koufax couldn't touch anything with it. Then it went dead.

The Dodger physicians, Drs. Robert Kerlan and Robert Woods, called in Dr. Travis Winsor of Los Angeles, a specialist in circulatory disorders.

Dr. Kerlan said an arteriogram "showed a rare condition — A clot in the deep ulnar arch, in the arteries in the palm of the hand."

"But," Dr. Kerlan said, "the clot dissolved after several injections of a new drug."

"If it hadn't dissolved, he might have lost the finger. There just wasn't enough circulation to supply it, and a finger can't live without blood."

Dr. Woods said it would have been necessary "to begin thinking seriously about an amputation if the blood supply hadn't started to increase within 24 to 48 hours of the injections."

Nicklaus Duels Veteran For PGA Money Lead

Palmer Enters Whitemarsh Open Despite Trouble With Shoulder

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Arnold Palmer's right shoulder still hurts, but he's going to play in the $125,000 Whitemarsh Open Golf Tournament starting today in hopes of maintaining his position as the year's leading money winner.

The Latrobe, Pa., belter hasn't won any major titles this year. As they say on the tourney trail, Arnie hasn't won anything but money. Now his lofty status as top cash man is in jeopardy. Should Masters and PGA champion Jack Nicklaus take home the $26,000 first money at the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club he would probably replace Palmer at the top of the cash list.

After playing nine holes of the 6,807-yard, par 72 Whitemarsh course Wednesday, Palmer said his shoulder still bothered him. He experimented with various shots, playing even par golf.

Palmer has earned $101,555 in 18 tournaments this year, while Nicklaus has pocketed $84,390 in 22.

In addition to Palmer and Nicklaus, who arrived here late Wednesday from Japan, most of the top pros are seeking the first prize jackpot. U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, British Open champ Bob Charles, Tony Lema and Gary Player, fourth and fifth leading money winners, respectively, Dow Finsterwald, Bruce Crampton, Bobby Nichols and Bill Casper either are here or expected before Friday's 8 a.m. tee off. The tournament serves as a tune-up for the Ryder Cup matches next week in Atlanta.

The promoters, who are sharing receipts with a local charity, appear unconcerned with the competition of the World Series and college and professional football.

They expect capacity crowds for each day of the four-day, 72-hole play. Typical Indian summer October weather is predicted.

Koufax Strikes Out 15 For New Record

NEW YORK (AP)—The under-rated Dodgers of Los Angeles, the object of new respect, suddenly found themselves slight favorites today to win the World Series following their 5-2 triumph over Whitey Ford and the New York Yankees in Wednesday's opener.

The Yankees were 7½-to-5 favorites to win today behind young Al Downing, who faces veteran Johnny Podres in another left-handed pitching duel. But the odds-makers now have made the Dodgers an 11-to-10 choice to take the series. The Yankees had been a pre-series 7½-to-5 pick.

Sandy Koufax, baseball's best pitcher, changed those odds with one of the finest pitching performances in series history. The 27-year-old Brooklyn-born southpaw established a series strikeout record by fanning 15 Yankees as he held the American League champions to six hits, losing his bid for a shutout when Tom Tresh smacked an eighth inning homer with Tony Kubek on base.

"We haven't seen anyone in our league who compares with him," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk. "He was every bit as good as we were led to believe."

Koufax, weakened by a siege of flu that hit him last week, simply overpowered the hard-hitting Yankees, retiring 14 straight batters until Elston Howard singled with two out in the fifth. He fanned the first five Yankees to tie a 19-year-old record held by Mort Cooper of the 1944 St. Louis Cardinals.

The 15 strikeouts topped the previous record set by Carl Erskine, another Dodger, who fanned 14 Yankees in a game in the 1953 series, exactly 10 years before to the day. The Yankee pitchers struck out 10 Dodgers for a combined total of 25, another series mark, bettering the 22 collected by the Cards and Browns in the 1944 all-St. Louis series.

Ford, in a record-making seventh series opener, lasted just five innings, during which he was tagged for eight of the Dodgers' nine hits and all their runs.

The big hit was a three-run homer by John Roseboro, the left-handed hitting catcher, who had not hit a home run against a left-handed pitcher during the entire 1963 campaign.

Sandy, who said he felt weak in the early innings, tired in the middle innings and "a little weak again" at the end, had a couple of anxious moments but weathered the storm each time.

Joe Pepitone and Clete Boyer followed Howard's two-out hit in the fifth with singles to fill the bases, but Koufax fired a third strike past pinch hitter Hector Lopez to end that threat. Sandy walked two batters in succession with one out in the sixth but disposed of Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris on infield popouts.

Racial Questions Caused Listen to Postpone Exhibition

DENVER (AP) — Smiling and scowling at times, heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston told a news conference Wednesday the pressure of questions about racial disturbances caused him to fly home suddenly from London Sept. 18 at the height of a successful international tour.

"Everywhere I went," Liston said, "they would ask me over and over, 'What about the Alabama bombing?'"

Liston, a Negro, said he got "real nervous when they'd be asking me about the race problem because I just didn't know how to answer them."

The champion said he "had a tremendous headache from all the questions and I just decided to come back home. I didn't bother to ask anybody—I just told the people traveling with me, 'My daughter's sick. We're going home.'"

At the time Liston gave that reason to London reporters, it was confirmed in Denver that his daughter, Eleanor, 13, was not ill but was attending school.

Questioned about his statement at the Denver Airport upon his return two weeks ago that he was "ashamed to say I'm in America," Liston said he did not mean that.

He intended to say, Liston said, that "I'm ashamed of the way America's acting" in the racial bombings. Liston said he was tired upon his Denver return and "quite frankly I blew up...if I hurt anybody's feelings, I'm sorry."

Liston said he will discuss with his adviser, Jack Nilon, in Philadelphia the possibility of resuming the abbreviated exhibition tour that touched Finland, Norway and Sweden before the expected ending in London.

Hensel's Bid To Buy Royals Is Turned Down

CINCINNATI (AP) — Warren Hensel's plans to buy control of the Cincinnati Royals have received a grave setback by an announcement that the National Basketball Association club is not for sale.

The announcement was made Wednesday night by Ambrose Lindhorst, local counsel for Louis Jacobs of Buffalo, N.Y. Jacobs' Emprise Corp. bought a 56 per cent interest in the Royals last April from the Thomas E. Wood estate. The rest of Royals stock is held by Cincinnatians.

"I just don't understand it," Hensel said of the announcement. "I've been at a complete loss. I haven't been able to talk to the man (Jacobs) in several months. My only contact has been with Lindhorst."

Lindhorst declined to discuss the matter further. Hensel said he still wanted to buy the Royals and might take legal steps to see if Jacobs could be forced to sell.

With Hensel apparently out of the picture, observers believed that J. Thomas Grace will continue as executive vice president of the Royals. Grace got that post under the late Thomas E. Wood and has held it while the team was owned by Wood's estate and by Emprise.

The Royals lost $25,000 last year and have a carry-over loss of some $150,000.

Unbeaten Canfield Battles Columbiana

Lisbon Risks Streak Against East Palestine Friday Night

Unbeaten Lisbon (4-0) should get its toughest test of the campaign, when the blue Devils take on East Palestine (2-1) at home Friday, in an Inter-County League clash.

Another interesting battle should be the skirmish between undefeated and uncrowned upon Canfield against Columbiana at the Clippers' stadium.

Both Minerva (2-2) and Leetonia (2-2) at the Bears' den may provide the most interesting tilt.

If Salem should raise to the occasion for 'Parents Night,' the Quakers could upend the Vikings and snap a three-game losing streak.

Lisbon, following its impressive 30-8 victory over Minerva, hopes to continue along the winning path against a Bulldogs unit that has posted two straight since losing the opener to Canfield.

LAST YEAR COACH Bud Buc

Downing Gets Nod To Try To Tie Series

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Nothing the Los Angeles Dodgers did in the World Series opener surprised Alphonso Erwin Downing, the trim, 22-year-old New York Yankee left-hander who found himself squarely on the spot in today's second game.

"But I sure learned something I already knew," Al said. "You don't throw those Dodgers any high pitches. They told us they were high-ball hitters but Whitey got the ball up a couple times. If I can't keep it low, the same thing'll probably happen to me. But I'm gonna keep it low. That's my natural way."

With the Dodgers up one after their 5-2 victory behind Sandy Koufax' record 15-strikeout pitching Wednesday, the proud American League champions know full well their chances won't be much if they don't square the series today before the switch to the West Coast.

If the responsibility frightened Downing, he didn't show it.

"I've been in some big games before this year," said the young Negro from Trenton, N.J., who had a 13-5 record after his recall from Richmond June 6, and had some wishful thinkers calling him an American League Koufax when he fanned 171 batters in just 176 innings. "And it is as if this is my first World Series. I was here in 1961, you know."

Did you pitch in the '61 Series? "No," he said. "But it helps just to be around. Everything doesn't seem so new."

Local's aggregation knocked off the Bulldogs 32-8.

Canfield, having chalked up four straight, hasn't let anyone cross its goal line. Columbiana, which features one of the fast men in the state Jim Ward, may solve that problem.

The Clippers opened the season by tying Youngstown North 14-14, then lost to Poland 16-12 and Minerva 8-6. Last year, Columbiana knocked off the Cardinals 18-6.

Leetonia took its first two clashes of the season but since then has dropped two, while Minerva snapped a two game losing streak last weekend by beating Columbiana to even its record.

The Bears triumphed 12-6 over the Lions in 1962.

EAST LIVERPOOL shouldn't even work up a sweat against hapless Wellsville. The Porters are 4-0 and the Bengals 0-4. These two schools are resuming their series after a layoff of several years.

The Class AA clash that has statewide interest is the battle at Warren stadium, where Akron South and Harding will match 4-0 records. The Panthers are tough to beat at home, and are enjoying a 17 1/2 game winning streak.

Crestview (2-2) takes on McDonald (2-2) in its homecoming game Saturday. The Rebels have the upset of the season in their pockets, with the Lowellville 8-6 victory, and if hustle and desire means anything they should give the huge Blue Devil machine fits.

Beaver Local travels to United and this one should be the area's most interesting game of the week.

New coaches Al Carrino (United) and Ed Stevens (Beaver Local) will match 2-2 records. The Beavers dropped their first two games, but have since then rolled over Springfield Local (Jefferson) 24-20 and Jefferson Union 58-14.

UNITED DROPPED its opener, then blanked Crestview 28-0 and East Canton 18-0, before losing in a thriller to Reynolds, Pa. 13-12. West Branch (1-3), playing its home coming against Western Reserve Academy at Salem Reilly stadium, hopes to rebound following the 36-0 setback to Canton Central last week.

Mineral Ridge, on its way to the Inter-County League title, takes a breather against Western Reserve, while Greenford tries to end its four-game losing streak at Howland.

Green May Get Nod At Halfback For Browns

Collier Undecided About 3 Starters For Steelers Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns must decide on the starters at three positions when the Browns meet the Pittsburgh Steelers here Saturday night in a battle for first place in the National Football League's Eastern Division.

Ernie Green did some fine outside running and gained 70 yards against the Los Angeles Rams last Sunday in making a strong bid for the opening assignment at left halfback. However, Ken Webb is received in Dallas Sept. 22. He doesn't have Green's elusiveness but is tougher to bring down and is a better blocker.

Veteran Ray Renfro apparently has recovered from the leg ailments which slowed him up for several weeks and could get the call at left end, but Rich Kreiling has been performing well at that position despite a pulled grain muscle.

Collier has both John Brown and Monte Clark ready at right tackle. Clark has more experience, but our NFL seasons behind him, while Brown has come along fast in his second year of pro ball.

No changes are contemplated in the defensive unit, which held the Rams to two field goals and stopped several Los Angeles scoring threats in a 20-6 triumph.

Two of the Ivy League's football captains are centers. They are Yale's George Humphrey from Chagrin Falls, Ohio, and Penn's Fred Jaffin from Ambler, Pa.

The state of Pennsylvania received $1,507,169.79 from the 50-night summer harness race meeting at Liberty Bell Park in Philadelphia.

Jim Nance, Syracuse's 220-pound fullback from Indiana, Pa., is the NCAA heavyweight wrestling champion.

English Teacher To Attend Meeting

As part of the enrichment program in Salem schools, Mrs. Margaret Baker, freshman English teacher, will participate Oct. 17-19 in the first of six conferences for English teachers in the United States at the Project English Demonstration Center in Cleveland.

The center, whose purpose is to improve the teaching of English in 7th, 8th and 9th grades, was set up at Euclid Central Junior High School under the sponsorship of Western Reserve University. A U. S. Office of Education grant to WRU made the center possible.

Mrs. Baker said the center during the coming school year will demonstrate new approaches in the teaching of the total English curriculum in junior high school. The first conference has as its theme, "Structure and Teaching: Building the English Curriculum".

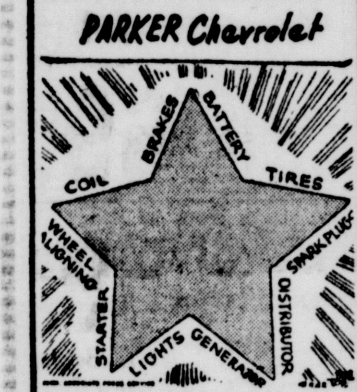

Other Salem English teachers may attend other conferences which include "Curriculum for Average Students" in December; "Approaches to Literature: Curriculum for Honor Students" in January; "Reading and Writing: A Remedial Program" in February; "English Language: A Linguistic Approach" in April; and "English Writing Approaches to Composition" in May.

The program will consist of classes, conferences and workshops and will be attended by hundreds of teachers from all over the nation.

Mrs. Baker has charge of the English curriculum in the junior high and is recorder for both the junior and senior high English divisions.

Offer both creamstyle cottage cheese and sour cream as a topping for baked potatoes; the former for the weight-watchers.

FOR STAR PERFORMANCE, BE SURE ALL THESE ARE IN TIP TOP SHAPE. WE'LL TEST THEM FOR YOU AT

Is now conducting a service clinic daily 8-AM to 5-PM. Your car will be thoroughly and scientifically checked from bumper to bumper, by factory trained mechanics. They will be using the very latest "Sun Electronic Equipment".

Call now for an appointment! Get your car ready for "Winter"!

There will be a nominal fee of $3.50

for the complete checkup. This fee will be refunded if needed repairs in excess of $20.00

are performed in our service department.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

This coming Sunday we will have organ music played by Russ Gates. Russ used to play the organ and old piano here several years ago.

Russ has been playing five nights a week at the same place the past two years, so we haven't seen much of him.

If you like organ music, Russ will be glad to play any request you might ask for.

I liked organ music well enough to buy one from my children, all three of them have stopped playing, so I have to hire it played.

Automation: Solution To Jobless Problem?

By Dr. George Benson

Automation is a word that is supposed to strike fear into the heart of the workingman, for it is thought to be the job stealer of the atomic age.

Yet this magic word may be feared too much, for in a free market America there are indications that it could become one of the important solutions of the unemployment problem. It is entirely possible, on the other hand, that in an economy so much beset by union pressure and government caprice, automation could cause great distress.

AUTOMATION will have to be accepted, like it or not. Our experience has been that someburgh Plate Glass Co., one of which chose to accept automation while the other did not.

This was a case in which employees did not go along with a management that laid its cards on the table, requesting cooperation in a changeover to automation. That plant has withered on the vine, while a brand new plant utilizing a British process of producing glass by floating it on molten tin has been put up in another state.

A losing battle of resistance is now being fought by a 10,000-man local of the typographers in New York City. This union has told the New York News, the nation's largest newspaper, that there will be trouble if computers for automatic typesetting, already on order, are installed without its permission. Bertram Powers, the labor boss who led the expensive 114-day strike last winter that was in part a protest against modernization, has said that both job security and a share of the cost savings will be demanded.

IT IS GOING TO BE futile for that some jobs, in an age of computers and switchboards, will become victim to progress. Some hardships are bound to occur. A great many jobs that do not need to be done at all are going to eventually fall to machinery, vacuum tubes, transistors, punch cards, automatic relays, and magnetic tape. But other jobs will show up.

The telephone company keeps hiring, but it has reported that without automation there would not be enough young women available today to handle the vast number of phone calls we make.

Just how much this is true in other industries has not been determined. The General Electric Company, however, has reported that if its lamp division had to use the hand methods of 1908, a total of 10,000,000 workers would have been required to manufacture its lamp production in 1962.

Under such old-time manufacturing methods, the lamp would be selling for $30 instead of 25 cents, and for us to enjoy electric light a considerable segment of the whole national economy would be orientated around the production of light bulbs!

IT IS GOING TO E futile for any of us to fight progress. Vast changes in the past generation have brought more progress than was accumulated in the previous 300 years. Continued scientific breakthroughs in industry after industry will offer still greater opportunities, but if we do not use these advances we may be loaded with burdens that no society can bear. To resist now would be like trying to say no to a 100-mile-an-hour diesel-electric locomotive by ruling it off the tracks. We should soon go back to primitive ways of carrying freight on our backs.

None of us knows exactly, to be sure, what automation may bring in days to come. There undoubtedly will be some workers displaced and a great many new jobs opened up. If we keep a free and flexible market and allow it to adapt to new and changing conditions, there will very likely be increased output and steady advances in living standards.

Automation is no signal for the government to come forward as the one protector of the fearful, who has all the answers. Let us keep free enterprise working and utilize the wonders of automation.
